GLENROSE SCHOOL HOSPITAL
1978- 1979

Dear Students:

It is interesting that I hear so many good things about our students this year because you are the THIRTEENTH group to pass through the Glenrose School. THIRTEEN is supposed to be unlucky and I telephoned the Centennial Library to find out why that is so. (You can get any silly question answered by calling the Information Section.)

Well, it seems the Romans were uncomfortable with the number THIRTEEN. They had just invented the calendar with its twelve months and chopped up their day into two units of twelve hours each. THIRTEEN was impossible to do anything with. (Try dividing it!)

So it became unlucky and when witch colonies formed up in the Middle Ages in Europe, the ladies divided themselves into colonies of (yep) THIRTEEN - the better to haunt us all.

Have you noticed that many hotel and highrise elevators show no floor THIRTEEN, but go directly from twelve to fourteen? That is just too much for me.

"The child taught to believe any good or evil omen, or that any number is lucky or unlucky, hath a wide inroad made upon the soundness of his understanding."

Isaac Watts, a seventeenth century English cleric was saying "Students, don't believe in superstitions!".

We will compare our THIRTEENTH group of students at the Glenrose with any group of students in Alberta.

- PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

"Come Share With Me" -

The motto of the Canadian Commission for the International Year of the Child expresses, in very few words, my concept of the ideal Glenrose School Hospital. In this mini-world of rehabilitation, children and adults share a common cause; here, people from various countries, races, religions and professions pool their training, expertise and experience to uphold the Glenrose creed:

"Sanare et Docere" -

and from the dawn of early history, these two things have been cherished and held in high respect:

"To Heal and to Teach".

An optimum level of health - physical, mental and emotional - and the pursuit of learning should be inalienable rights of every human being. Twenty years ago, the United Nations declared these rights, among many others, for all children of the world. It is with a mixture of justifiable pride, because we are helping many students to achieve their rightful goals, and honest humility, because we must be accountable for our input, that we present our slogan for this year:

"Glenrose - Where Every Year is the Year of the Child".

GLENROSE AT

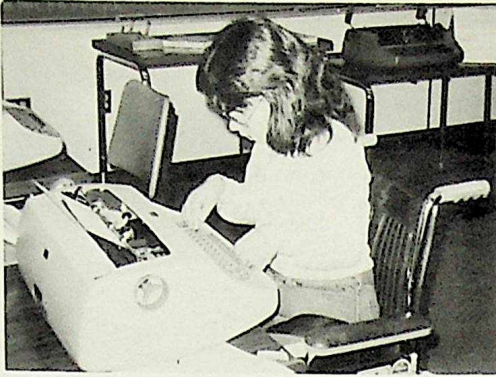

Corrine came to the Glenrose in the fall of 1973. She started grade seven with Mrs. Thompson. Corrine stayed on station 201 when she first came to the Glenrose and then she alternated between day patients and station 201.

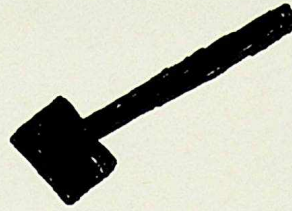

As we look at Corrine's life since coming to the Glenrose we realize she has kept very busy.

Preparing herself each day to go to St. Joes High School, which she started attending for half a day in the fall of 1978. Corrine also attends Glenrose School Hospital for half a day.

Working on her work experience course were she slaves for many hours a day over a noisey typewriter.

This year Corrine also has the honor of being Student Union President were she presides over the meetings of the students union.

As well as doing hard work, Corrine also partakes in her favorite recreational activities which include: backgammon, listing to records, playing crib and eating.

But, alas, we must say our farewells to Corrine, who will be graduating this year from both the Glenrose and St. Joes. All Corrine's fellow students and teachers wish her a very happy and prosperous life.

ENCOUNTERS WITH THE OTHERSIDE

There are 4 classrooms in the R.A.H. to serve pupils who are hospitalized for a period of over 5 days. Two classes are for emotionally ill patients. The other two cater to the physically ill. Each classroom is unique in its criteria, program and problems. The only common features being pupils, teachers and classrooms (and even the classrooms vary tremendously). The aim is to keep the pupils abreast with their home room classes so that on discharge they can return without loss. To this end, there is very close co-operation between the medical team and the teachers.

Of many things and few,
From sunroom and zoo
Adieu! Adieu!

NO TEARS

God, when I look around
And see the starving people,
Sick and lonely,
I want to cry -
But my eyes,
Will shed no tears.
When I think of needless killings,
I want to cry -
But my eyes,
Will shed no tears.
When I think of crippled children,
Feet never touching the ground,
I want to cry -
But my eyes,
Will shed no tears.
Why can I only cry
When something bad happens to me?
Am I selfish, Lord?
I do not want to be.
Why is it that when loved ones
Are in danger
I cry?
Am I not supposed to love everyone?
Is this not what the Bible says?
Why Lord?
Why will my eyes not shed tears,
For thee?

Alexander MacKenzie, the great Canadian explorer had sprung a leak in his canoe. He pulled up to the shore and traded a flask of whiskey for a thick molasses-like tar with the Indians. This was the first deal with tar sand.

IN MEMORY OF MURRAY ANDERSON

We were all saddened by the sudden death of Murray Anderson. When he left us we lost a friend. He was not with us very long but in that short time he influenced and enriched all of our lives.

All of us cherish and value life. Murray was no exception. We all occupy ourselves with the things that interest us and the outines of daily living. Our goal in life is to live a full and meaningful life. Death seems only a remote possibility. We see death and dying in our newspapers, our magazines and our televisions but we are rarely if ever affected because it happens so far away. When Murray left us we all felt the loss because we got to know him as a friend. A writer put our feelings in these words, "When our friends die, in proportion as we loved them we die with them...." We appreciated his soft spoken and gentle manner in which he conducted himself. He was an example and a positive influence on all of us who knew him. Forget him we will not; miss him we will. "God's finger touched him and he slept".

In loving memory of a dear friend and student Allan Lehr, better known as Sam, who passed away on February 1st, 1979. Sam was seventeen years of age and was in Grade XI. He had been a student at Glenrose for $9\frac{1}{2}$ years. Sam was admired for his qualities of gentleness, patience and perseverance. Sam will be sadly missed by all who knew him.
The following is a poem in honor of "Sam" written by Rema Thomas.

Sam we all know that you have gone,
But your memory will always linger on.

You fought that bitter fight to the end,
Your life and honor, you did defend.

The pain and suffering is over, forever more,
But the tears from our eyes continue to pour.

We pray that you are at peace in heaven above,
Down here below we are thinking of you with love.

Your endurance and strength will be remembered forever,
You never gave up once, no not ever.

But despite all the efforts you were called away
On that cold and snowy February day.
